

INTELLIGENT.

"With the pfw system, we don't have to run our business on assumptions."

Ron Barlet – President and Owner, Bejac Corporation

To maintain its position as a leader in a highly competitive market, Bejac Corporation requires dealership management software that gives instant access to everything they need to know about their business—and the people they do business with—without leaving them guessing at the end of the day.

Ron Barlet, President and Owner of Bejac says, "With the PFW system, when we need information about our customers, our equipment, or about the health of our business, all we have to do is drill down and get it. Using Management Central and IntelliDealer has helped us grow our business, and every year we're showing a successful, constant rate of improvement in our Parts and Service departments. We have more flexibility and informational visibility than we have ever had before!"
